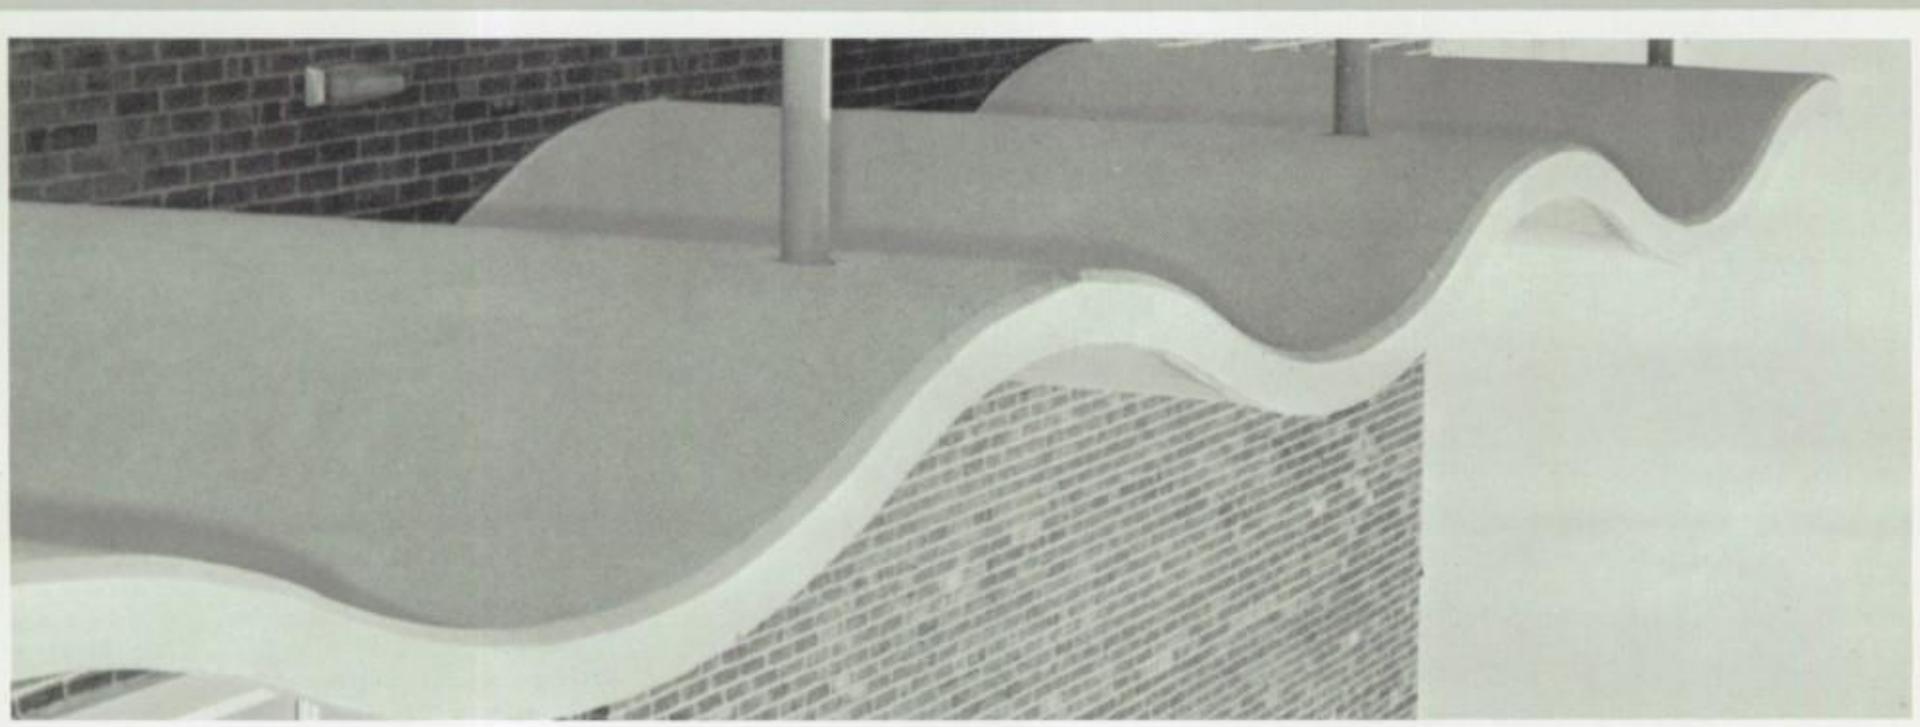
DEDICATION

Department head, teacher, class advisor, friend—Austin O'Toole plays each role as if it had been created solely to challenge his remarkable capabilities. During the past four years, he has offered our class a rich blend of guidance and friendship; and, in one way or another, each of us has personally benefited from his sincere concern. As our needs have expanded from one year to the next, so too it seems, has his capacity to fulfill them. This yearbook, as its title signifies, reflects in its entirety our sojourn at Cumberland High School. If the senior class had failed to acknowledge Mr. O'Toole's selfless contribution to this four-year progression, the following pages could not have projected a true image of the class of '67.



FOREWORD

Growth is a gradual, almost imperceptible process. To us, as freshmen, the road ahead seemed endless, the goal unattainable. Even as the weeks progressed, we were unaware of the myriad patterns of maturity which were developing slowly from the daily contacts with our world.

Only now, as seniors, poised on a crest of our life's progression, can we pause momentarily to look back and appreciate the many experiences we have gained in high school as mirrored in this REFLECTOR.

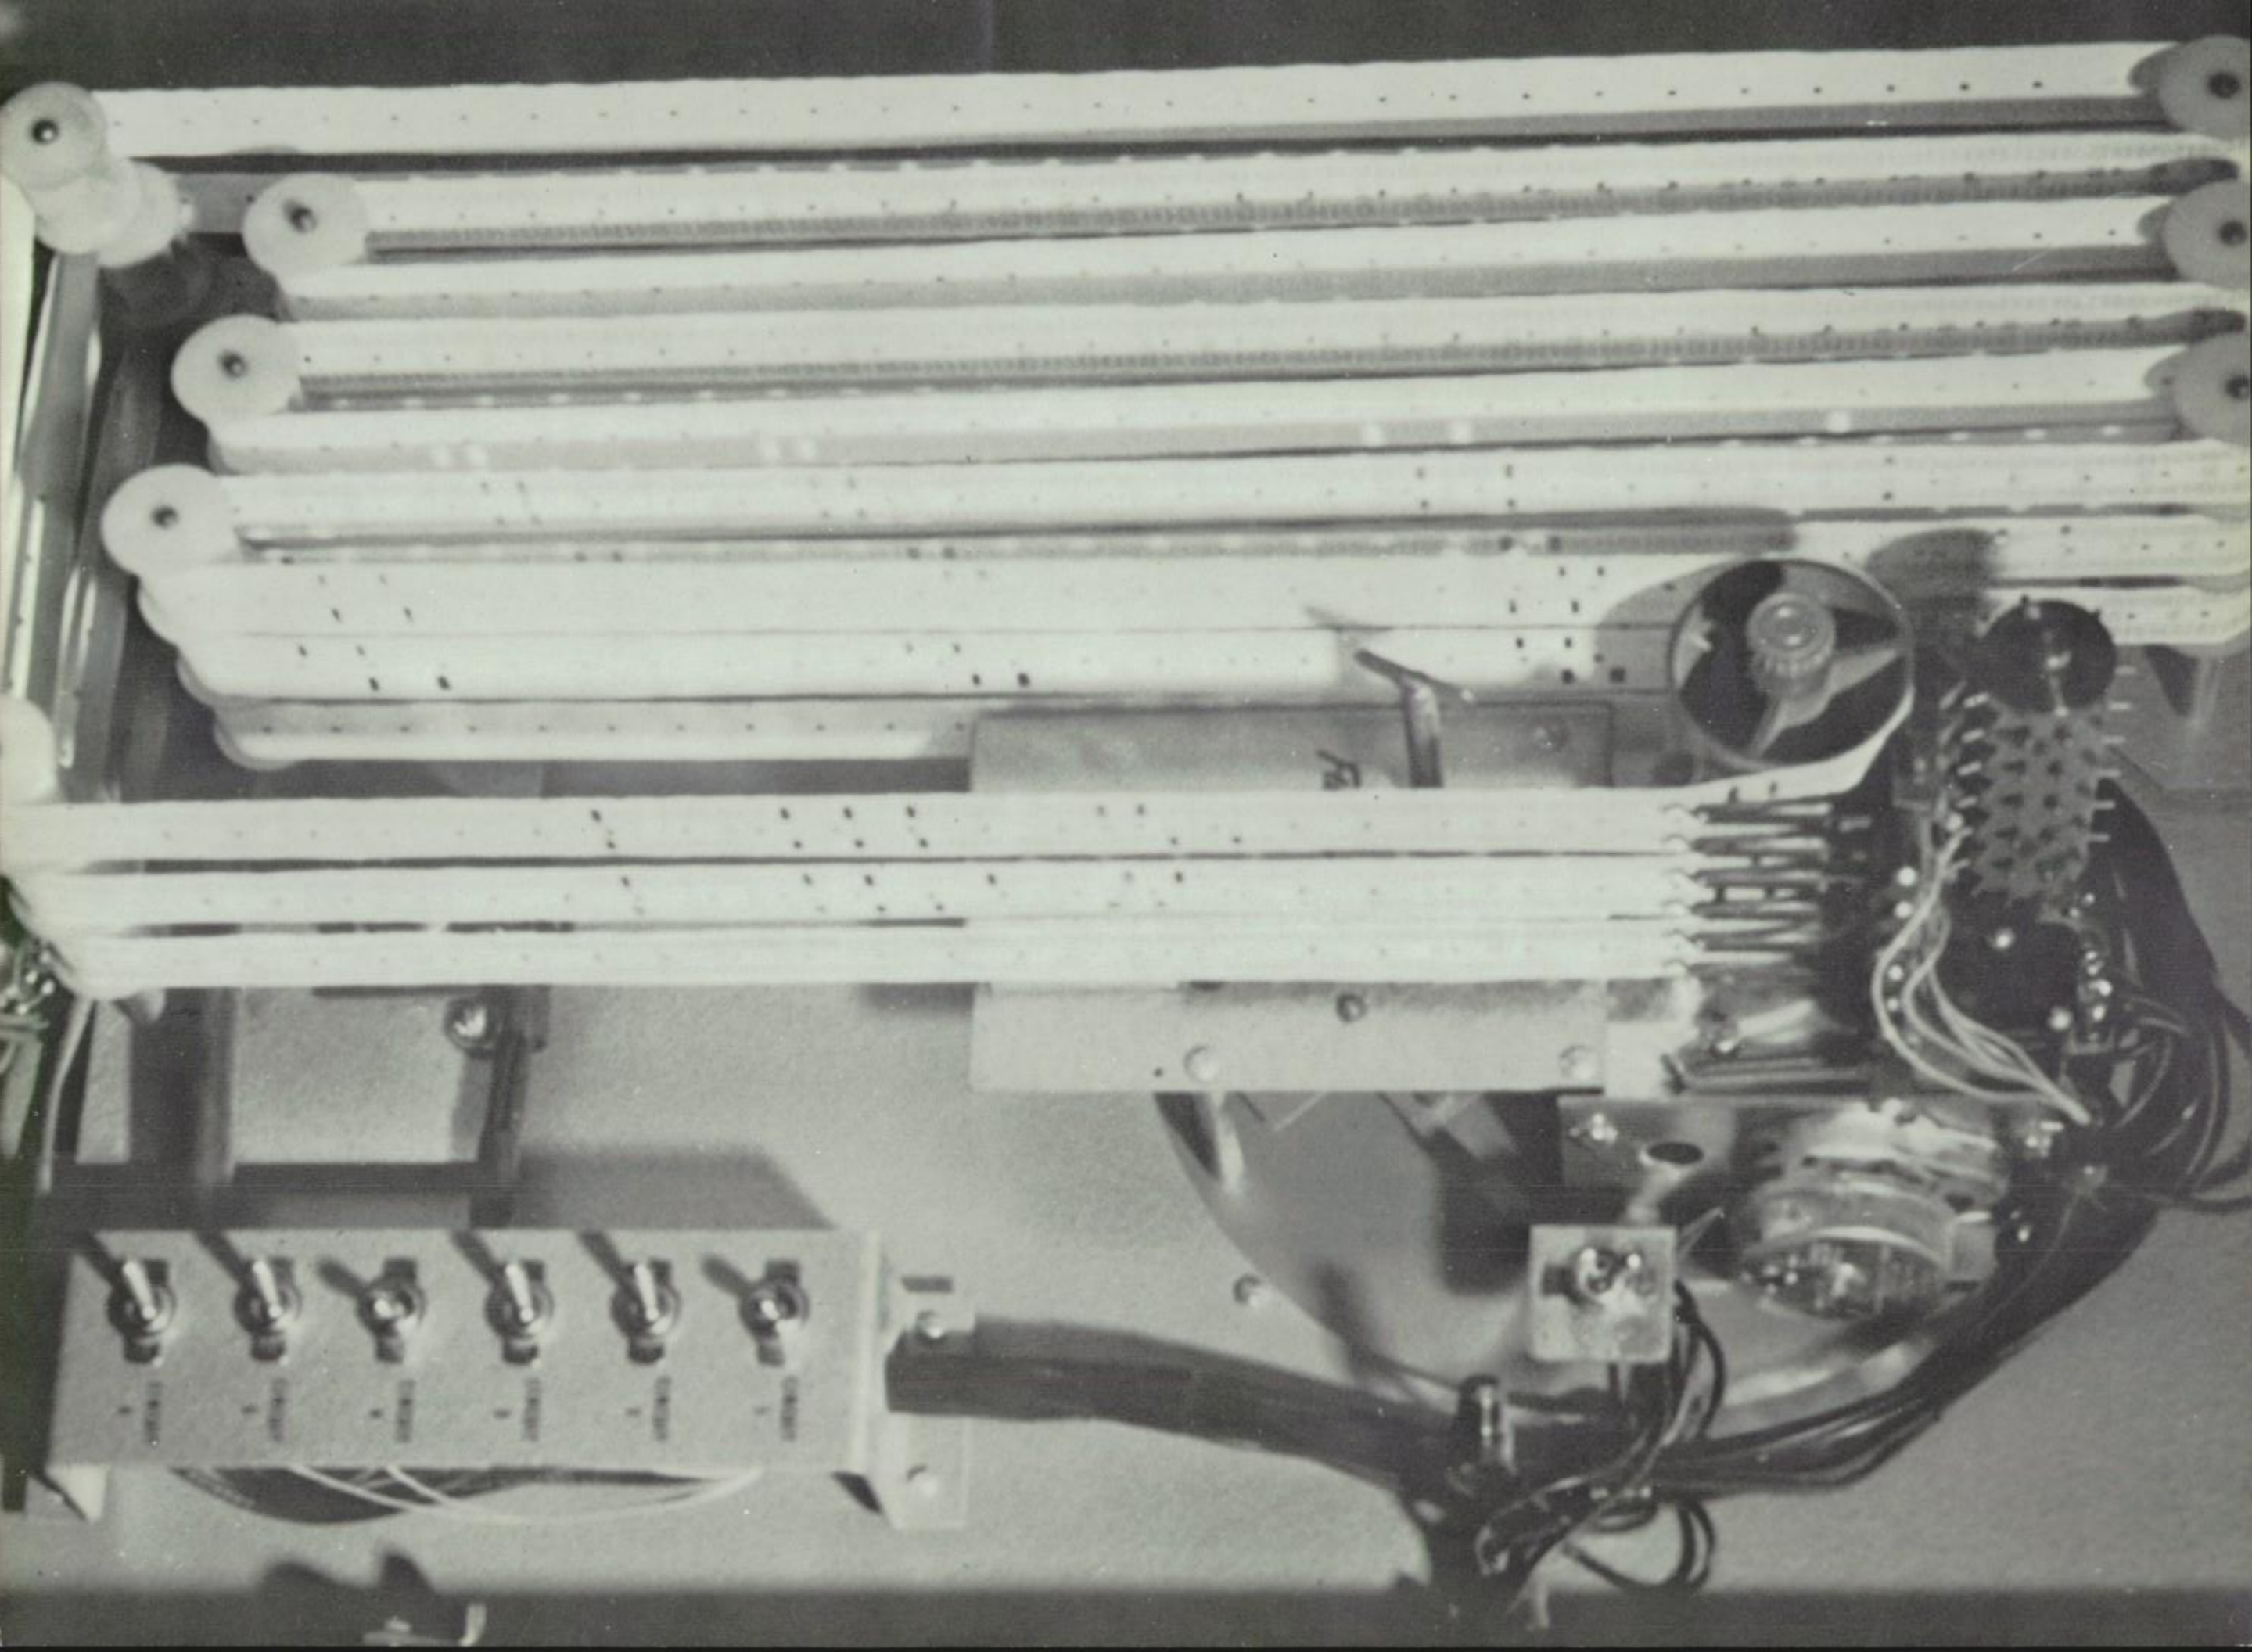
SCHOOL LIFE

From opening exercises, to classes, to activities, every school day is like another, yet so different from the rest. Each day brings opportunity for new knowledge, deeper thoughts. Improvements in methods and facilities, variations in extracurricular activities—all assist in the development of the atmosphere of school life. Each day contributes to the attitude of students toward school life, and each student's educational progress is directly related to the incentive given him by this school day.



"I WANT TO BE ALONE."—Who are you kidding?

Animal Farm

CHICAGO STOCK YARDS, maybe? The crowd of students who occupy both cafeterias before morning homeroom sometimes creates this effect.

"GOOD MORNING from the Cumberland News!" Conrad Lafontaine and John Dean enliven the morning and publicize an upcoming game with one of their notorious spirit skits.

STUDENT COUNCIL REPRESENTATIVE, Jack Crawley, conducts homeroom nominations for class officer elections.

INCREASED FACILITIES provide CHS business students with first hand experience in the use of timesaving business machines.

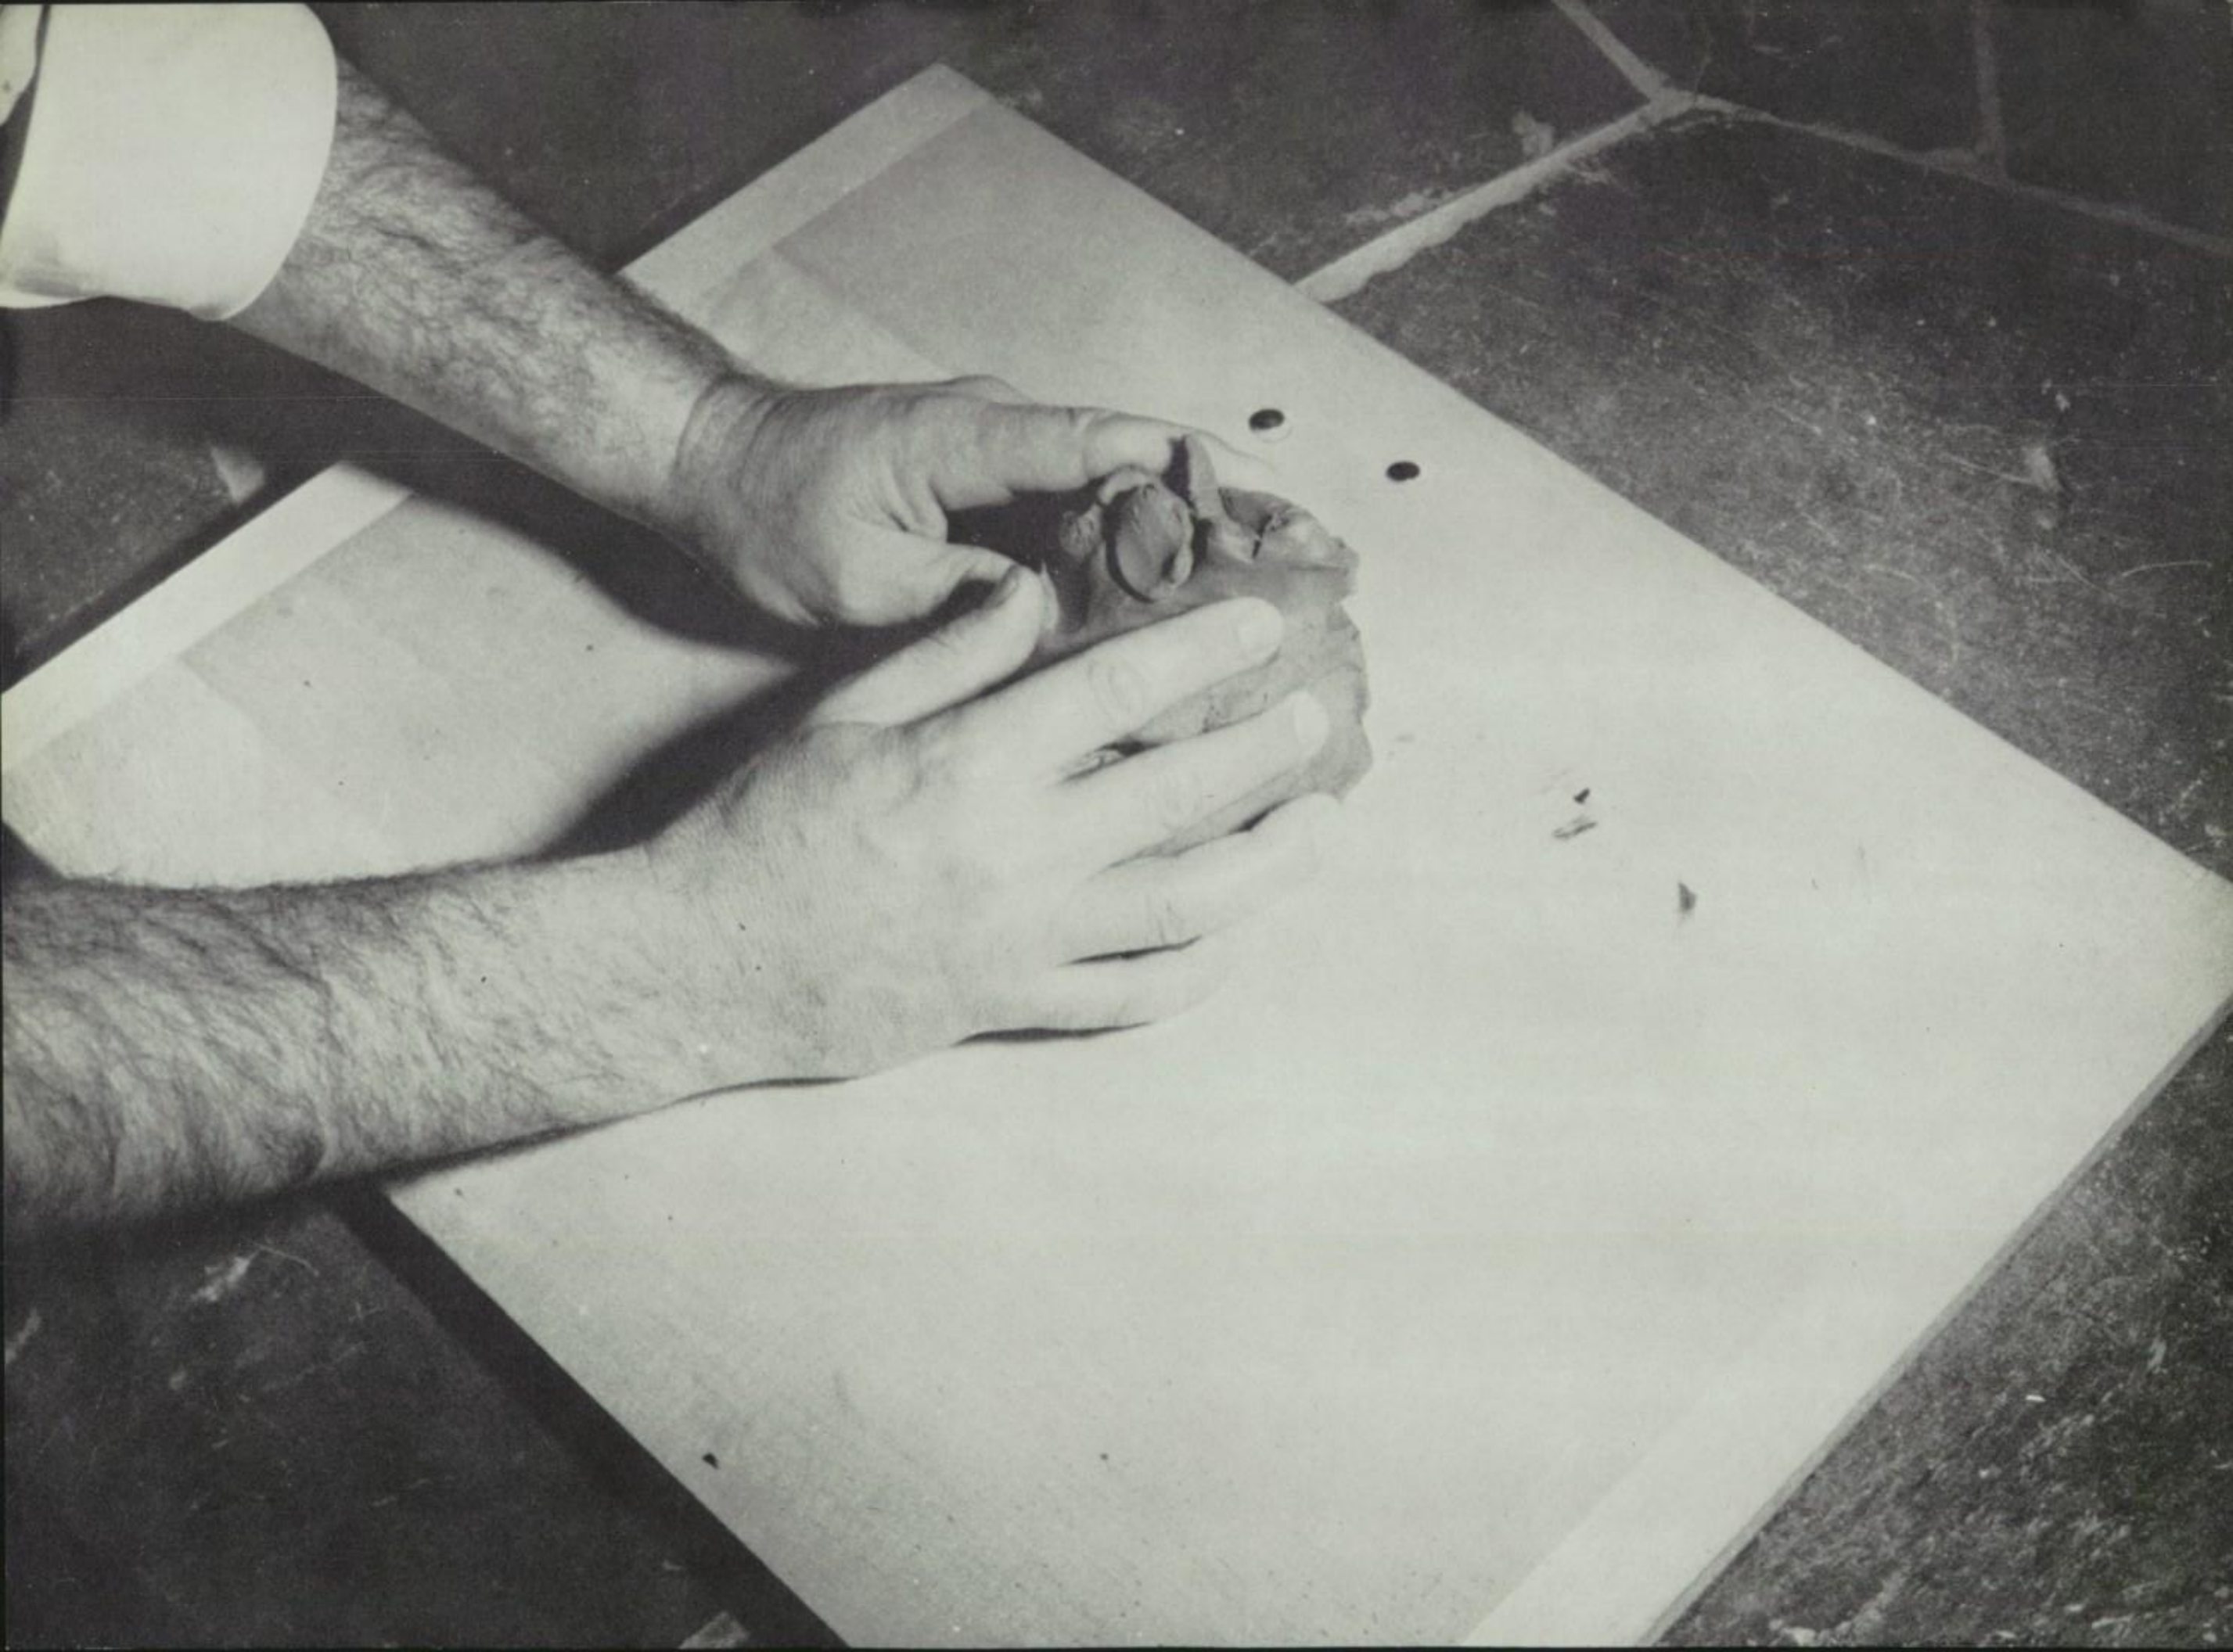
PERSONNEL

Always gazing towards the newness of the future, we of the present are carefully molded by others more experienced than we. Our ideas belong to us, but they also belong to the people who guide us until we are capable of guiding ourselves.



ROBERT G. CONDON
Superintendent of Schools
University of Pennsylvania, B.A.; Rhode Island College, M.Ed.

THOMAS F. SKAHAN
Principal
Providence College, Ph.B.; Boston University, Ed.M.

To continue to expand and improve with the changing times and to help Cumberland High School maintain its rank as one of the outstanding schools of the state are the goals of the administration led by Mr. Condon, the new superintendent. Aiding him in this work are Mr. Nawrocki, assistant to the superintendent, and Miss Cullen, secondary school curriculum director.

Our high school is also fortunate to have experienced personnel at the helm. Mr. Skahan, principal, Mr. Connell, vice-principal, and Mr. Charland, dean of students, manage and supervise the program of scholastic, athletic, and social activities.

Administration

THE CUMBERLAND SCHOOL COMMITTEE meets to discuss problems encountered in the course of running the school system. Members of the committee include Mr. Robert G. Condon, Superintendent of Schools, Mr. Edward Mousseau, Mr. Louis Goodrich, Mr. Walter Curtin, Mr. Louis Kolodziej, chairman, Mr. Joseph Jacinto, clerk, Mr. Paul Pressey, Mr. William Free, and Mr. Stanley Nawrocki, Administrative Assistant.

"STUDENTS are our business; our only business," could well be the motto of Mr. Richard Walker and Mr. Richard Lynch, Cumberland High School's guidance counselors.

Guidance

College catalogues and bulletins, vocational pamphlets and guest speakers from various colleges and academies are some of the means by which Mr. Connell, head of the guidance department, and guidance advisors Mr. Richard Lynch and Mr. Richard Walker help each student find a career in which he can fulfill himself and also perform some useful service for his community.

School records, personality reports and aptitude test results together with a knowledge of the student's special abilities and interests help these counselors with the enormous task of guiding over one thousand students in the proper direction, whether it be toward a job, further education or enlistment into the armed services.

READY, WILLING, AND ABLE to assist freshmen in all their decisions is one of the freshman guidance counselors, Mr. Harris Gederman.

TAKING ADVANTAGE of the library of information in the guidance office which is helpful in planning a career is Loretta Vartanian.

English

INDIVIDUAL EXPRESSION, the main objective of creative writing, is guided by studying the basic fundamentals of writing.

This year the English department has again stressed the importance of literature as an integral part of a sound education. In addition to the usual array of novels and non-fiction works, Shane, Lord of the Flies, Animal Farm and Bridge at Andau have rounded out the literary curriculum with a modern touch.

The mandatory grammar and literature course may be supplemented by any of a number of electives. The revival of debating clases expanded this year's selection.

Perhaps the most exciting innovation in the curriculum was "Project Discovery," which enabled students to attend four plays performed by the Trinity Square Players. Prior to each presentation, English teachers introduced their students to comprehensive background material.

Social Studies

Whether working within itself or in conjunction with others, the social studies department enables students to gain a deeper insight into the past in order to recognize its affect on the future. This year a more complete correlation of social studies with other subjects was attained through lectures and discussions conducted by the librarians and members of the other departments. Qualified history students participated in the Rhode Island History Colloquium, a state-wide forum in which a variety of ideas were exchanged during sessions led by college and high school faculty members. Clubs, presenting additional political and economical experience, were also offered.

Foreign Languages

Increasing numbers of students engaged in the study of foreign languages testify to the fact that these courses are becoming more and more prominent at CHS. Through the application of new teaching methods, students acquire language skills in pronunciation and grammar. Oral comprehension has taken a stride forward in the part it plays in daily classwork. Fluency is promoted in the language lab which all language classes visit weekly. Special literature and films are employed to acquaint the students with the culture and customs of foreign countries in order to present an overall view of the language and its background.

Mathematics

The Cumberland High School math department has continued to expand its program in offering a solid background for college mathematics. Among this year's innovations is a math tutoring program, in which student tutors offer their serices in after-school sessions to those having trouble in math. Also, for the first time Cumberland has a Math Team in the local Math League. This group travels to neighboring high schools and competes with students there in mathematics contests.

A program of guest speakers in various areas of mathematics was planned for this year.

Science

In keeping with the increasing importance of science in the world today, Cumberland High School's science department has continued to extend its program in the advanced sciences. For the first time seniors were offered an advanced course in chemistry, in addition to other accelerated classes in biology and physics. Difficult classroom work and after-school lab sessions entailed many long and sometimes frustrating hours of hard work. They provided, however, a valuable background for further study.

A group of juniors also increased their store of scientific knowledge by attending weekly science seminars at the University of Rhode Island.

Home Economics

Regardless of future goals, knowledge of fundamental homemaking skills will inevitably prove beneficial to every girl in years to come. Developing a young woman who is responsible and capable in the home is the primary aim of the home economics department. Excellent facilities are available for students to demonstrate their knowledge of today's modern kitchens, while field trips help them to appreciate the practical application of this knowledge. Nutrition, child care, and home management are only a few of the areas included in the course. Profiting from the experience the girls gain, they are able to successfully occupy a creative place in the community.

Vocational

In today's world skilled mechanics, carpenters, and other tradesmen are needed to keep the wheels turning. Although the enrichment of the mind through such means as reading and writing is an important aspect of high school education, the practical application of learning must not be overlooked. In the vocational department, students are taught to acquire skills not only by reading and writing, but by doing. The program offered to students when they are freshmen helps them to decide in which trade they want to major. They choose one specific trade and continue to take courses in it for the next three years. This program is designed to produce students who will have the knowledge and manual dexterity to become apprenticed workers or to go on to vocational college.

Art is a universal medium for man's self-expression. Creativity brought out through art adds beauty to the life of the artist and to the lives of those around him. Dabbling in painting, drawing, ceramics, sculpture and other media is offered the CHS art student in a wide program of artistic activity. When the area of a student's concentration has been determined, the Cumberland student is given the chance to develop his individual capabilities. Improvement in an artist's work is recognized as ability. With the proper instruction given at Cumberland High, students' abilities are channeled in the direction which best develops their talents.

Music

Music is a truly expressive form of artistic communication. To those students aiming for this type of expression, vocal music classes provide both the incentive and the opportunity. Choral studies range from classical compositions to popular tunes. This year, for those students interested in musical careers, Mrs. Lennox has given special instruction in music theory and solfege.

Those who prefer instrumental music are also fully able to pursue their interest. Practice rooms enable each individual to progress at his own level, on the instrument of his choice.

THE VIOLIN SECTION practices together and later combines with the other instrumental groups to form a balanced and harmonious orchestra.

Library and Audio-Visual

Certainly no school would be complete without an efficient, up-to-date library and it is without a doubt that CHS boasts of having one of the finest school libraries in the state. An expanded staff, with the help of student library aides, keeps the library running smoothly at all times. This year, books were not the only means by which students benefited; for, in addition, the library sponsored a program of guest lecturers.

Also functioning as a means of supplementary learning, is the audio-visual department. With the assistance of student aides the department provides the latest tape recordings, filmstrips, records and slides which help to give students an overall survey of their various courses of study.

Health and Physical Education

Keeping in mind that physical fitness is an important prerequisite for complete self-development, the physical education department builds a program which attempts to fulfill this requirement. Students were able to participate in a wide and ever-expanding scope of athletic activities ranging from gymnastics and tumbling to intramural sports. This year, for the first time, special tests were given to determine which areas needed more concentration.

Clerical Staff

The responsibilities of the clerical staff of our busy school are efficiently handled by our competent secretaries, Mrs. Noela L. Pelchat and Mrs. Rita E. Carbon. Keeping the academic and attendance records, issuing passes to tardy students and performing secretarial duties for Mr. Skahan and Mr. Connell are only a few of their daily tasks.

Maintenance and Kitchen

It would be hard to grow ivy in the immaculately clean, hallowed halls of Cumberland High due to the unceasing efforts of our efficient maintenance staff. Our busy but friendly matrons and hard-working janitors team up to produce a school of which to be proud.

Nutritious and appetizing meals, planned and prepared in the school's modern kitchen by our competent cooks, are daily anticipated and devoured by Cumberland's hungry students.

COOKS DISH IT OUT! Another nutritious, palate pleasing lunch is distributed to the student body by our kitchen connoisseurs.

UNDERCLASSMEN

Although underclassmen comprise the greater part of the student body at Cumberland High, emphasis often seems to be concentrated disproportionately upon senior activities and achievements. The size of each class increases every year, yet underclassmen possess greater individuality and distinctive abilities. Talents in academic, athletic, musical, and a multitude of other fields will be displayed as underclassmen progress toward their senior year.

Welcome to the world of underclassmen

"I AM A VOICE OF DEMOCRACY," proclaims Charlene McKee, winner of the regional Voice of Democracy Contest.

Juniors

The junior year had finally arrived, and the class of 1968 found itself with only two years of high school life remaining.

Determined not to waste any precious time, the class began contributing more than its share of players to the varsity football team. Especially valuable to the squad were four J.F.K. award-winners: Frank Bertozzi, Bruce Gorst, Kevin Condon, and Gary Kut.

Juniors also sought and achieved excellence in the scholastic field; for this was the year when all those hours of study were put to the test—or more accurately, tests. Most class members struggled with S.A.T.'s, N.M.S.Q.T.'s, and ultimately the college boards before the year was over.

The school year would not be complete without its social functions, and so to guarantee their success, juniors elected Philip Rapp as their class president; Gary Kut as vice-president; Helen Rogala, secretary; Gayle Gauvin, treasurer; and Eileen Angell, social chairman. Mrs. Joyce Walsh, class advisor, contributed her thoughtful guidance and experience to these student leaders.

Sophomores

This was the year that all freshmen anticipate—the year when school life opens up into full swing!

In traditional fashion, the Sophomore Hop was the first big event of the year. Stately Roman columns standing in the center of the gym and fountains gracing the foyer conveyed this year's theme, "Three Coins in a Fountain."

Sophomores involved themselves with coins of another kind when they launched a fund drive for their badly injured classmate, Terry Whalen. Working together with Mr. Nashawaty, the class advisor, sophomores definitely contributed to the project's success.

As far as sports are concerned, the class can be especially proud of the three sophomore members of the varsity cross-country team. Paul Dixon, Dennis Harrison, and Stephen Matthews comprised the hard-running trio.

Perhaps the sophomores' most notable non-athletic achievement was their victory in the High School Bowl. Barbara Banik, Stephen Holden, David Keefe, and Charlotte Kent claimed the trophy by beating an excellent senior team.

As the sophomore year closes, the class of '69 looks forward to its third year at CHS and hopes for continued success.

A TOUCH OF FRANCE—Sophomore helpers Claire Shea, Paula Van Dam, Lois Lane, Janet Lane, Christine Burns, Donna Dandurand, Leslie Morrison, Arlene Thomson, and Barbara Banik add their French charm to the Senior Dance, "An Evening in Paris."

HAIL TO THE QUEEN! Lovely Christine Lind is crowned princess of the Sophomore Hop by Mr. Skahan.

INCREASING identification troubles for their sophomore classmates, the Lane twins even manage to comb their hair the same way.

THREE COINS IN A FOUNTAIN was the theme of this year's Sophomore Hop. Tall Roman columns provided a pleasing Mediterranean atmosphere for the dancing couples.

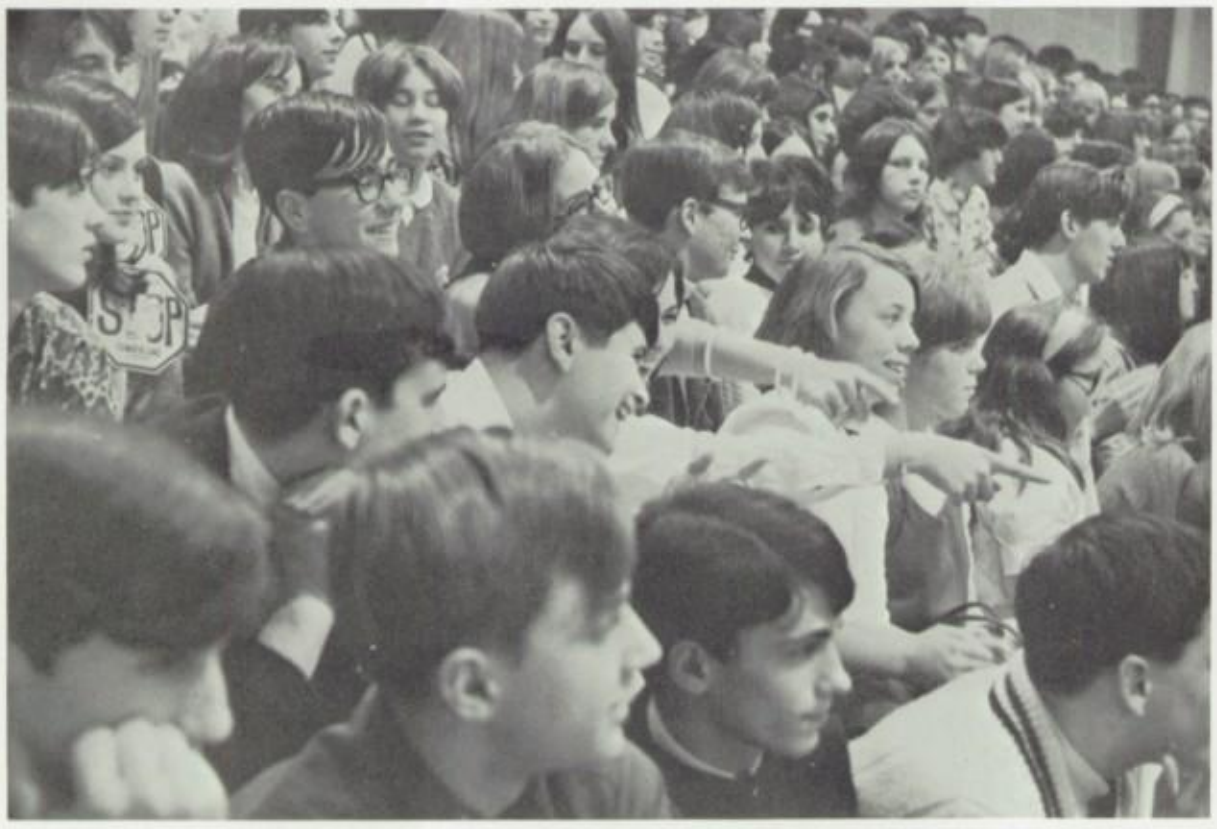
SCIENCE GOES OUT THE WINDOW as Sophomores discover a way to beat chemistry.

SOPHOMORE DOUG CULTON finds balancing geometric models can be almost as fascinating as the subject itself!



PRIVILEGED CHARACTERS! Enjoying their comfortable (?) seats at a pep rally, sophomores in the bleachers tower over lowly freshmen seated on the floor.

WHO SAID that we'd walk away with the title? Dennis Harrison, Stephen Matthews, and Paul Dixon show how they ran to victory on the Varsity Cross Country Team.

FRESHMAN TODAY, LEADERS TOMORROW?? Demonstrating their "outstanding class leadership" are president, Gordon Sutcliffe; vice-president, Carla DeStefano; treasurer, William McCauley; social chairman, Dianne Lanoue; and secretary, Lynn Campano.

Freshmen

Just boarding the Clipper ship, the freshmen found the size of the building and the change in routine a little hard to believe. After a few weeks, however, they accepted the tasks, the fun, and the experiences as naturally as any veteran upperclassman. Through the helpful efforts of their class advisor, Miss Langhorn, members of the class of '70 had embarked on the Clipper course.

The Freshman Social achieved its prime function—getting everyone acquainted. Helping the process along, refreshments and entertainment contributed to the evening's enjoyment.

This year's freshmen discovered a variety of ways to show their school spirit; the purchase of beanies numbered among the first.

Extending this spirited attitude to the field of competition, they battled against the sophomores in the High School Bowl. Although losing, the freshmen fought well and gained valuable experience for next year's game. The freshman athletic teams also exhibited spunk and sportsmanship. According to their respective coaches, the boys look promising.

Led by Gordon Sutcliffe, president, Carla DeStefano, vice-president, Lynn Campano, secretary, William McCauley, treasurer, and Diane Lanoue, social chairman, the freshmen have worked hard to make their first high school year a good one.

WINNER in the local competition of the Lions' Club Peace Essay Contest, Debbie Coleman advocates her slogan convincingly.

HIGH SCHOOL LIFE can be fun, as the freshman party-goers will testify.

EVERY MAN FOR HIMSELF! Freshmen boys help themselves at their class party.

FRESHMEN FLIP over Mr. Chrostek's gym classes. Here Roger Laflamme demonstrates gymnastic technique as Morris Lafond spots carefully.

OVER SHE GOES! Physical education students look on as Eileen Kosowski and Suzanne Carlin (both on hands and knees), Peggy Bessette (upside down), and Janice Rapp (spotting) demonstrate one type of forward roll.

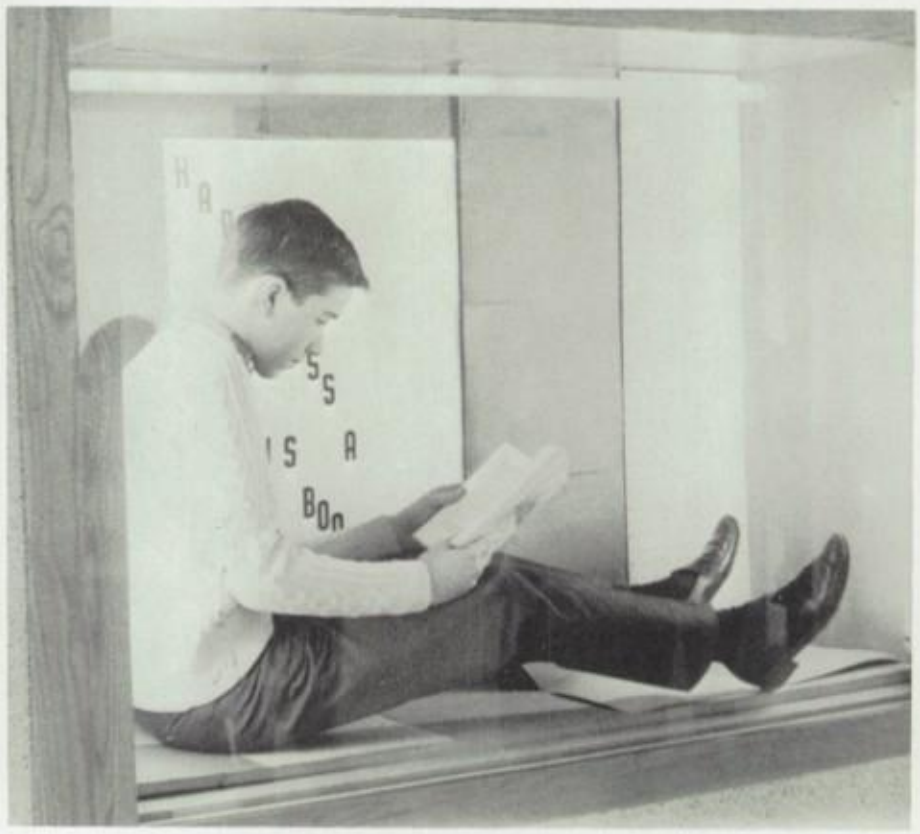
RELUCTANT to break childhood ties, freshman Susan Chomka refuses to part with her stuffed animal despite prodding by John McKee and Jeanne Chevrette.

FRESHMAN BOYS, Richard Malouin and Peter Turcotte, practice for upperclassmen days by picking on the only one they can—Pamela Roy, a freshman girl.

DUE TO OVERCROWDED CONDITIONS in the corridor, freshmen Joseph Conway and Lyn Ruskell have had to find seats where they can.

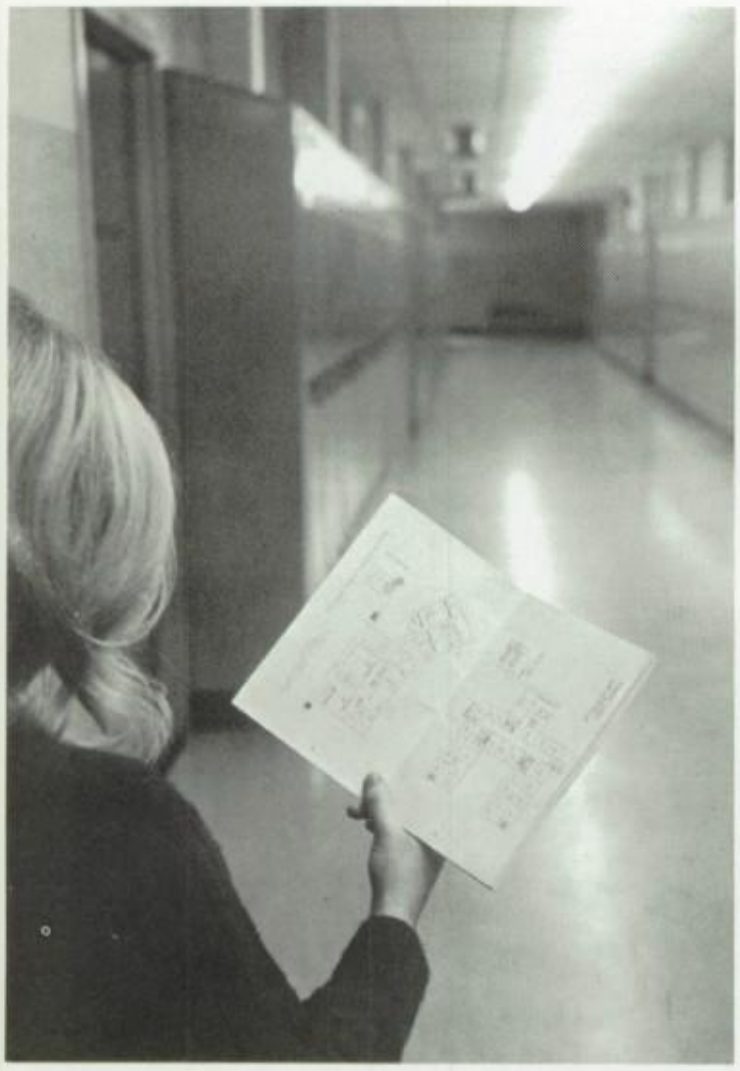
FRESHMAN CONFUSION runs rampant as a Senior Council member, James Catterall, gives Jeff Liber, David Wood, Rosemarie Lambert, and Maria Carvalho "helpful" directions.

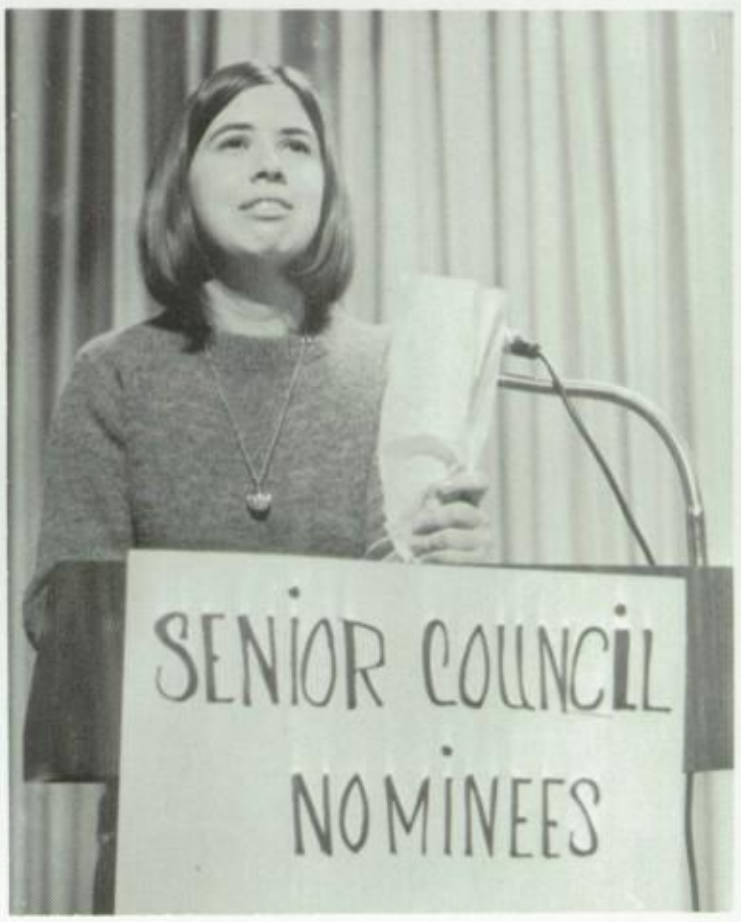
ISOLATING himself from the pressures of school, James Cullen finds that happiness really is a book.



SENIORS

Within the protective walls of high school we have been preparing for the difficult road to the future—a future different for all but alike in its vastness and mystery, promise and wonder. High school has provided the background for beginning, and closing its doors we go forward to new discovery.





Consulting the freshman "bible" on that first bewildering half-day . . . Experiencing terrified awe during that initial encounter with the office . . . Taking pride in the stage-veteran serenity exhibited in our sophomore production of Our Town . . . Contracting pneumonia after an otherwise successful carwash . . . Feeling utterly foolish and five years younger on sophomore pigtail day . . . Flaunting a newly-acquired class ring as if 300 other juniors had not received theirs the same day . . . Admiring the poise and eloquence of senior council nominees . . . Nursing hoarse voices for two weeks following the lone senior victory in the cheering competitions . . . Learning the fundamentals of a Windsor knot on senior tie day . . . Bidding last goodbyes to a familiar face . . .

. . . as we remember them

Senior Dance

SO WHAT'S an evening in Paris without an Eiffel Tower?

INDUSTRIOUS SENIORS take on the time-consuming task of making decorations for the Senior Dance.

"FRENCH ARTISTS" add authenticity to "An Evening In Paris" by demonstrating a little technique.

ORGANIZATIONS

Life is a continuing movement composed of varied experiences. Participation in school activities provides a foundation for the development of student interest. As each student adds his personal contribution to the club, he strengthens his growth as an individual. It is a combination of the club leaders' guidance and the Students' curiosity that has a solidifying effect upon the personal goals of their lives.

COOPERATIVE DISCUSSION surmounts many yearbook problems. Editors Michael Marcil, Debbie Danzell (editor-in-chief), Susan Gonsalves, and Susan Gray combine efforts to produce a successful REFLECTOR.

Reflector Staff

TACKLING THE MASSIVE JOB that waits for REFLECTOR typists are these members of the staff: Pam Coletta, Charlene Pierel, Audrey Casci.

Subscription Staff and Ad Staff

UTILIZING COMMON "CENTS," this year's REFLECTOR subscriptions staff broke all existing sales records.

"HURRAY! We're absconding to Mexico with the ad funds!" Mr. Nashawaty informs the ad staff of his future plans.

REPRESENTING their fellow students, student council members hold weekly meetings to discuss problems of the student body.

Senior and Student Council

THE 1967 SENIOR COUNCIL played an integral part in the daily school activities. Kneeling in front: Brad Jencks, Mike Roy, and Kathy McCourt; standing in second row: Daniel Alves, Joan Ervey, Audrey Casci, Joyce Jackson and Jane Ward; third row: Paul Alves, Tony Lukasiewicz and Ronnie Ribb; standing to the right of sign: Lucia Droby and Jim Catterall.

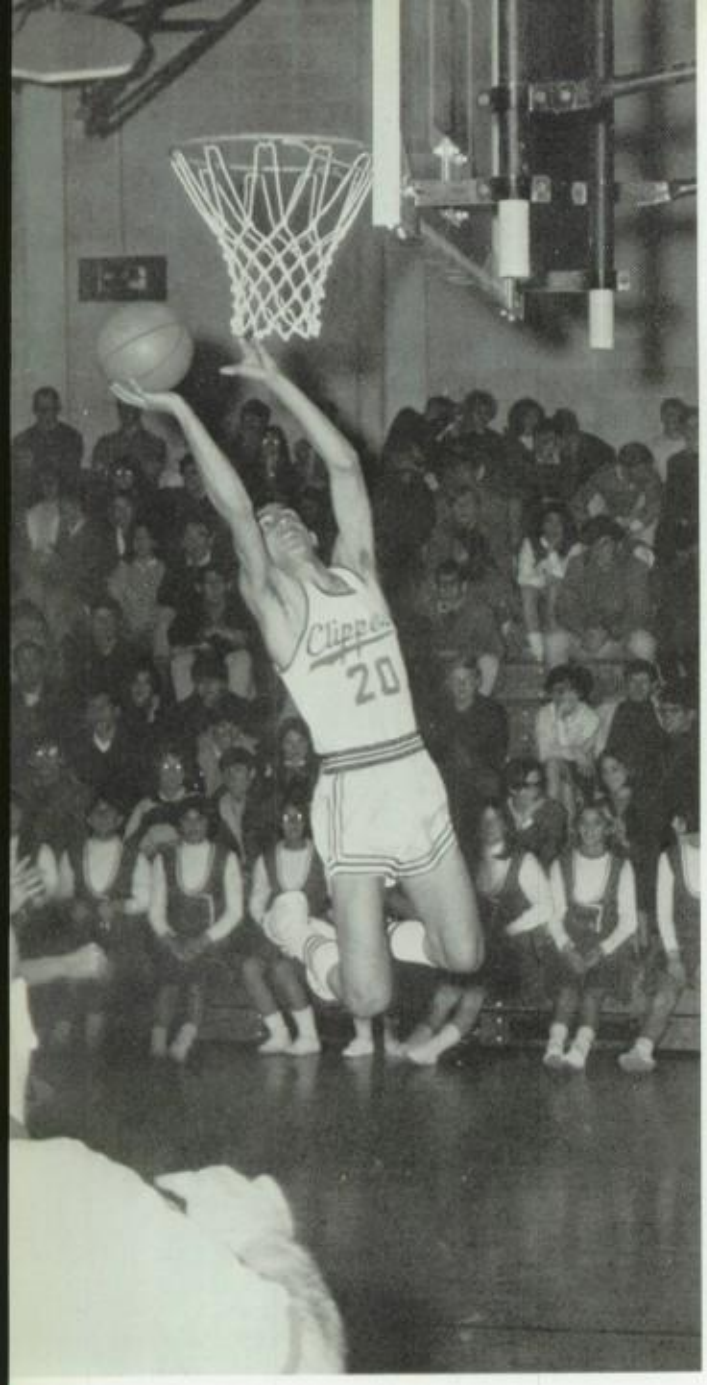
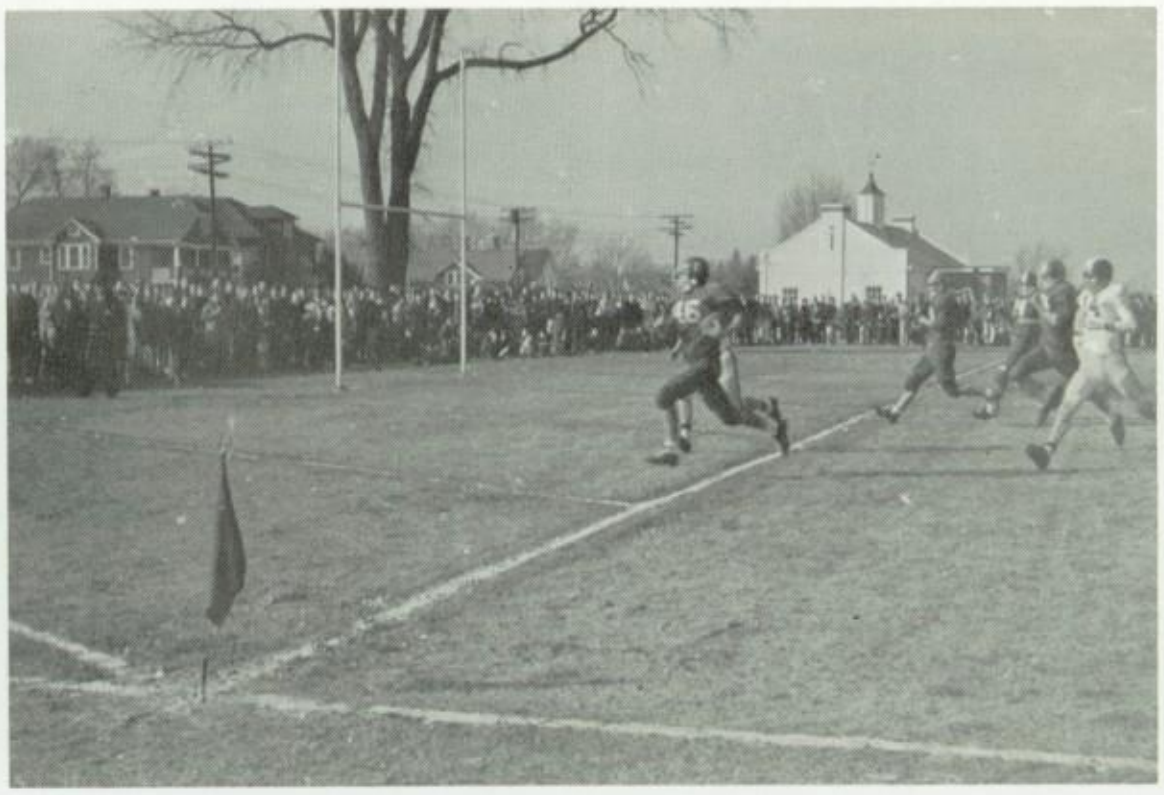
SPORTS

Man's competitive instinct and his motivation to continually prove himself worthy of any competition can account for the universal appeal held by the world of sports. For although personal ability is important, it is the individual determination of each player to stop the opponent and emerge as victor which does most to affect the outcome of any game. Each realizes that today's dejection of defeat or elation of victory is only momentary but serves to strengthen him for future encounters.





Whether a person is battling against a stopwatch, another person, or both these things, there is still a desire to beat the opponent and to come out the winner. Then there is the thrill that a person feels after winning a hard fought contest or the agony felt after being defeated.

EXPLODING on this play, John Gomes, Tony Fonte and Roland Guillet put Cumberland into scoring position.

NEVER SAY DIE is John Gomes' motto here, as he doggedly vies for possession of the ball.

Soccer

With only one year of experience behind them, the Cumberland High School Soccer Team, led by their new coach, Mr. James Booth, went ahead to triumph over eight of their fifteen opposing teams in this year's season. The 8-6-1 record achieved by the team shows that while inexperience can be a handicap, it is not the deciding factor in the performance of a team. Although the soccer team has completed only two seasons of play, its twenty-two member squad is a good indication of how Cumberland students are rapidly becoming aware of the excitement and fast-moving action found in the game of soccer.

Superlative performances were turned in by players Paul Alves, high scorer for this year's team, Philip Rapp, Joseph Rebelo, and Antonio Fonte. Each of these players won election to All-State team. Other outstanding members of the team were Roger Monteiro, Antonio Correia, John Gomes, Steven Brod, and Adriano Freches.

Even though soccer is a relatively new sport at Cumberland it is rapidly gaining popularity with the student body and has found its place in the Cumberland High sports program.

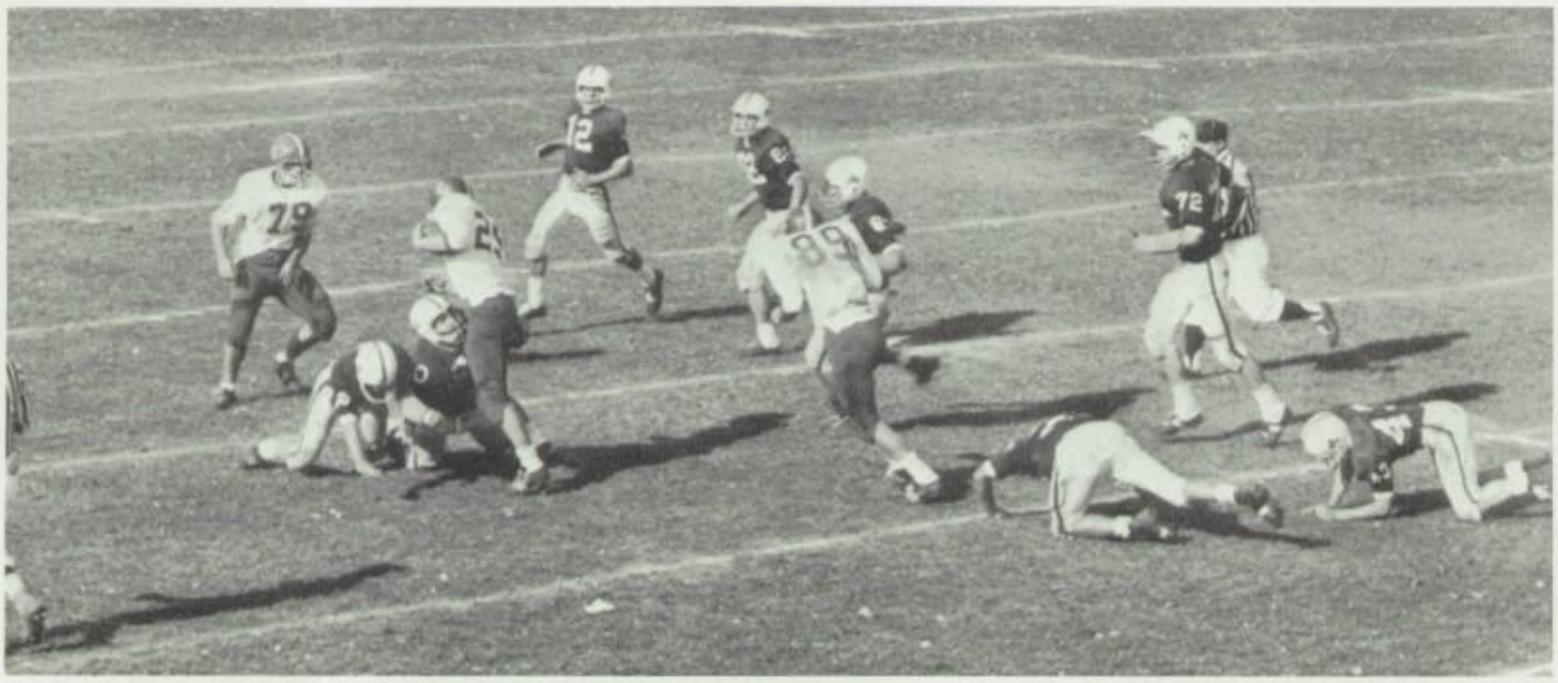
CLIPPER LINEMEN keep themselves in excellent shape by practicing for an upcoming game.

CLOSING THE GAP, Clipper defensive men rush in to prevent the ball carrier from gaining substantial ground.



THE CLIPPERS CHARGE deep in their opponent's territory in an attempt to score another touchdown for Cumberland.

Cumberland High School's varsity football team, coached by Mr. Peter Dalpe, came through with a golden performance this season. Running up a league record of five wins, two losses, and no ties, Cumberland finished second in Class B competition, a half game behind Central.

A standout for the Clippers was Bob Grigelevich, who was named to the All-State team. Additional honors were accorded Bob, as he, Gary Kut, Glenn McCusker, Kevin Condon, and Frank Bertozzi were awarded positions on the All Blackstone Valley team. The further success of the clippers was indicated by seven players, Tom O'Connor, Brad Dean, Gary Kut, Bob Ray, Glenn McCusker, Kevin Condon, and Frank Bertozzi, being chosen for the All Class B teams. The Kennedy Memorial Trophy for the most valuable player of the season went to Glenn McCusker.

Excitement mounted as the season progressed, and it became apparent that Cumberland, sparked by sophomore quarterback Tom O'Connor and senior runningback Glenn McCusker, had an excellent opportunity to capture the Class B title. However, all hopes for the title were dashed when Central upset Cumberland 20 to 7. After this defeat, the Clippers bounced back to gain a much sought after 20 to 6 victory over Woonsocket in the Thanksgiving Day game and end the season on a victorious note.

Junior Varsity Football

ALL THE WAY, Bruce Marshall picks up a blocker and carries the ball for another JV touchdown.

Under the guidance of coach Robert Perreault, Cumberland High's J.V. Football team closed out a winning season. In order to compile a 3-2-0 record the Junior Varsity had to overcome such adversaries as Cranston West, Woonsocket, and Pawtucket West. Many of the games were highlighted by the running ability of Bruce Marshall, who promises to be a future varsity asset. Led by quarterback Roger Dowdell, the Junior Varsity appropriately ended their campaign by routing Pawtucket West 20 to 6.

Freshman Football

This year's freshman football team, under the direction of their coach, Mr. James Sullivan, went on to win four out of the seven league games played during the 1966 season. A great deal of credit must be given to the players on this year's team considering the fact that only four out of 78 boys on the team had played organized football before trying out for the team. Practically all of the other teams participating in the league have had at least three years of experience by playing for other football teams.

Athletic awards were presented to James Mousseau, Kenneth McKee, Joseph Hynes, Charles Gifford, Richard Belisle, John Alves, Thomas Murphy, Wayne Gallagher, Arthur raers. Richard Gray, manager of this year's ballclub, must also be commended for a job well done. Although the freshmen got off to a slow start, their winning streak towards the end of the season showed their capability as a well-organized, highly spirited team.

AMIDST THE ONRUSH of competitors, the Clipper junior varsity runners vie for lead positions.

STATE CHAMPION, Richard McLaughlin receives his first place medal from Cumberland Superintendant of Schools, Robert Condon.

Cross Country

Having perhaps their finest season in the history of Cumberland High, the Cross Country Team turned out a truly superb performance which is shown not only in their 8-1 record but by their winning the Class B Championships, Blackstone Valley Championships—both Varsity and Junior Varsity—and by placing fifth in the state, two places higher than last year. These victories were made possible through the efforts of Mr. Harris Gederman, the illustrious coach of this year's winning team and through the practice, hard work and sacrifices made by the members of the team.

This year's team, with 4 of their top 7 runners returning from last year's season, consisted of 24 members—the largest team that Cumberland has ever had. For the varsity, exceptional performances were credited to Richard McLaughlin—All Blackstone Valley, All Class B, All-State and State Champion; Frederick Gaschen—All Blackstone Valley, All Class B, and All-State; Bradford Jencks—All Blackstone Valley; Francis Gaschen—All Blackstone Valley; and Paul Dixon. Standouts for the junior varsity were: William McCauley, William Przybyla, and Steven Matthews.

Cross Country is one of the few sports that truly pushes the human body not only to the limit, but sometimes even beyond all endurance. Stamina and determination—these are the elements that formed the backbone of this year's Cross Country Team—one of the finest teams that has ever competed for Cumberland High School.

RUNNING SIDE BY SIDE, Rick McLaughlin and Fred Gaschen were the Clipper Varsity's one-two punch.

THE AGONY AND THE ECSTASY of Cross Country running is illustrated by Steve Matthews, as he propels his body toward the finish line.

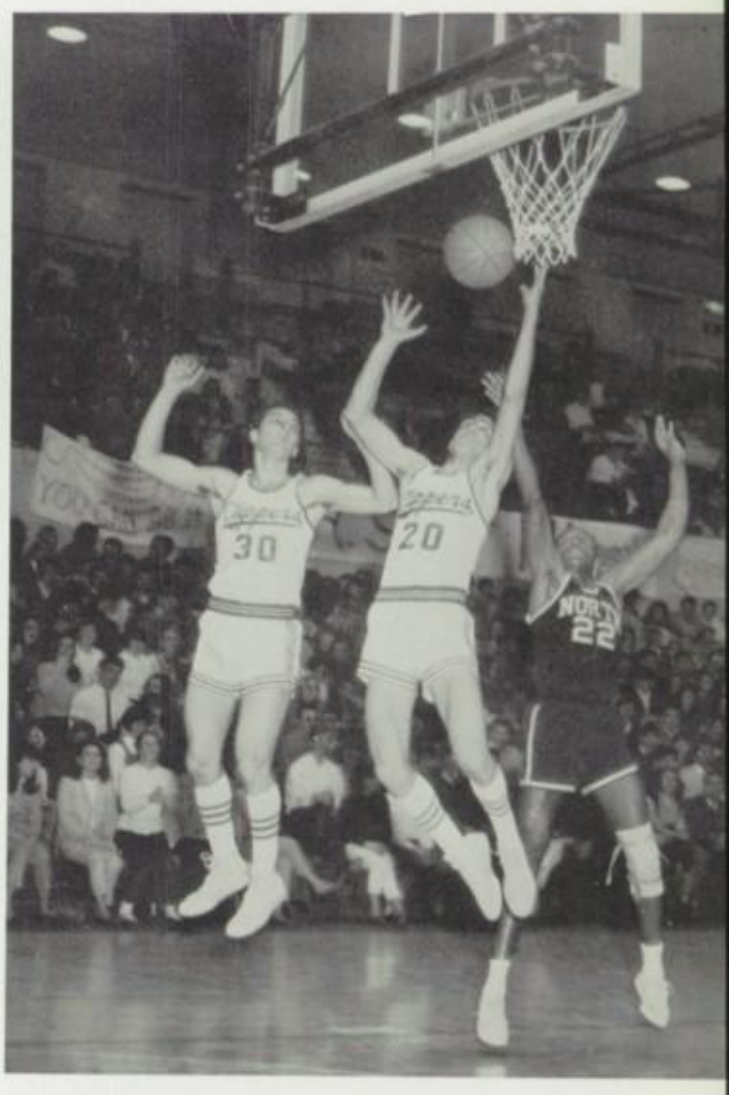
GOING UP for the score, Bill Jackson displays remarkable coordination. Clippers observing the action are Cezar Ferreira (20) and Bob Passano (42).

Varsity Basketball

If one were to ask the question, "What makes up a winning basketball team" he could find the answer quite easily by watching the Clippers in action during this year's season. This year's team possessed style, precision, and a great deal of teamwork which, under the guidance of their coach, Mr. Joseph Dragon, proved to be the determining factors in the outcome of the 1966-67 season. The Clippers won twelve of their nineteen games, which put them in position for the Class B Championship, and got their big chance to win the title after defeating North Kingstown by the score of 64-54 in a semi-final game. Unfortunately, the final game against Westerly High School ended in defeat for the Clippers who, after a tension-packed and hard-fought struggle, lost by the score of 85-59. This final defeat, however, cannot erase the tremendous record that the team has achieved this year, nor can it detract from the statement that the Cumberland High basketball team is one of the finest ball clubs in the state.

Standouts on this year's team were Paul Alves, high-scorer with an average of fifteen points a game, All-Blackstone Valley and All-Tournament Class B teams; Cezar Ferreira, All-Blackstone Valley and the recipient of perhaps the most enthusiastic standing ovation a CHS athlete has ever received; Mike McKee and Bob Passano, All-Tournament Class B. Other outstanding players on this year's team were star rebounder, Tony Fonte, and William Jackson, one of the Clippers' starting five.

CONTROLLING THE BALL, the Clippers led by Paul Alves (10) race down the court amidst the confusion of their opponents.



LEAPING HIGH, Cezar Ferreira (20) pulls down another rebound assisted by Bill Jackson (30).

JUBILANT CLIPPERS express their emotions after eliminating North Kingston in the semifinals of the Class B championship.

Junior Varsity Basketball

The Cumberland High School Junior Varsity basketball team, coached by John DeGoes, handily rolled over its opponents to conclude this season with an astounding 21-1 record.

Led by a starting line-up of Kevin Condon, Tom O'Connor, Paul Sweetman, Dave Wudyka, and Dan McKee, this well-balanced J.V. team displayed superb ball handling, scoring, and rebounding ability. Due to the high scoring and excellent defensive playing of the Clippers, many games were veritable routs with Cumberland's margin of victory reaching as high as 72 points in a game against Middletown.

J.V. BASKETBALL TEAM that compiled an astounding record consisted of Coach John DeGoes, Kevin Condon, Paul Sweetman, David Wudyka, Daniel McKee, Michael Coleman, John Curtin, Robert Benoit, Thomas Boyd, Thomas O'Connor, Thomas Goryl.

Freshman Basketball

Despite a 5-10 record, Coach Robert Perreault's Freshman basketball team never floundered in defeat. Led by high scorers Dave Toste and Mike Forte, leading rebounders George Mathieu, Dave Laduke, and Tommy Tucker, and topnotch defensive men Mike Nobrega and Bob Goodrich, the Frosh performed to their utmost throughout the season and lost many games only by the narrowest of margins.

With spirited players like these moving up to assume J.V. and Varsity positions, the basketball future of Cumberland High is indeed a bright one.

SHOOTING AROUND, frosh basketball players limber up during a practice session.

Hockey

STR-ETCH-ING, goalie Phil Rapp valiantly executes another save.

Under the leadership of coach Gerald Morisseau, this year's hockey team aided by the return of some of last year's star players, went on to triumph over Mount Pleasant and Ponagansett during the 1966-67 season. After trouncing the Mount Pleasant team by a score of 6-2, the Clippers went on to upset Ponagansett in a close match with a score of 2-1. Exceptional performances during these games were turned in by team captain George Gomes, David Moriarty, and Philip Rapp. Both victories, however, were made possible by the efforts of the team as a whole, which with spirit and determination, turned in truly superb performances.

A CRUSHING MANEUVER piles up opposing players near the net.

Varsity Cheerleaders

TWO PENCE, FOUR PENCE . . . spirited cheerleaders begin pep rally with this familiar chant.

WHOOPEEEEEEEE . . . a point scored brings on a flood of approval from Clipper cheerleaders.

Hockey Cheerleaders

CHEERLEADERS exhibit high spirits during a hockey game. Their lively cheers offer encouragement to both team and spectators.

Twirlers

ADVERTISEMENTS

A certain potential is needed to set the workings of yearbook production in motion and to preserve the momentum. Advertising represents the source of this potential. In itself, the financial raw material represents formless energy—acquiring direction and purpose as it is channeled toward production aims.

Dear Seniors,

We plucked the word "valete" from its ancient Roman past and used it to transmit a deeper meaning in an event which would have been inconceivable to its originators—your graduation.

As freshmen, we have known your class only a very short time, but you can be sure that your spirit will remain with us as we, too, continue our educational journey.

We can see that you have good reason to be proud of your accomplishments, as they certainly appear outstanding to Cumberland and to neighboring schools also.

Therefore, it is with best wishes that we bid you a final—Valete!

Sincerely,
The Class of 1970
Cumberland High School

EPILOGUE

Consider with awareness, you whose cap and diploma
mark the end of an existence:
a period unlike any other in pattern or form,
yet like every other in its power to enlighten.

Move on in awareness, you—who are so eager to push aside, to file away—
do not reject yesterday's legacies; make them a part of you, build on them.

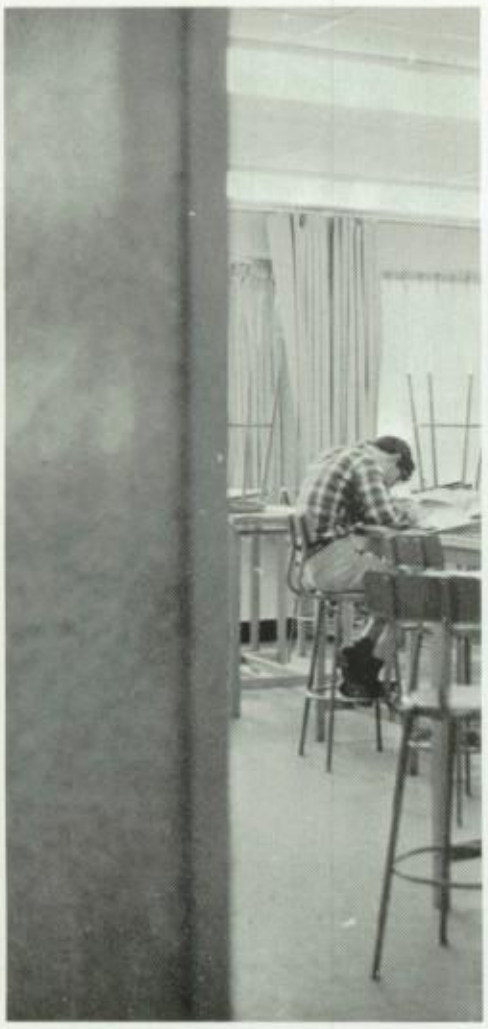
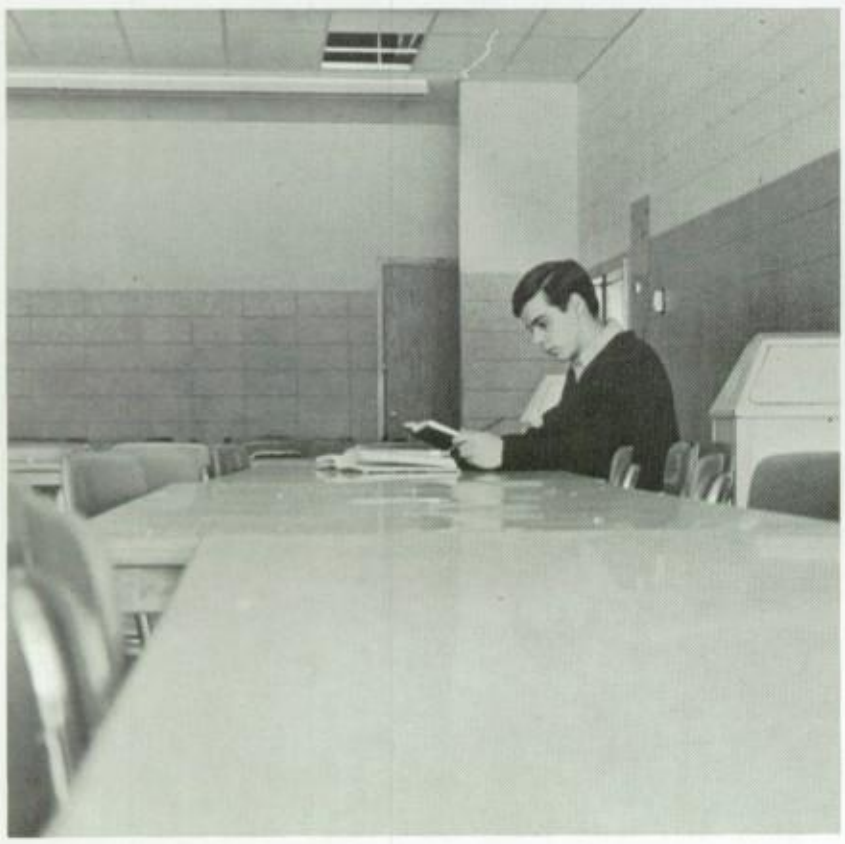
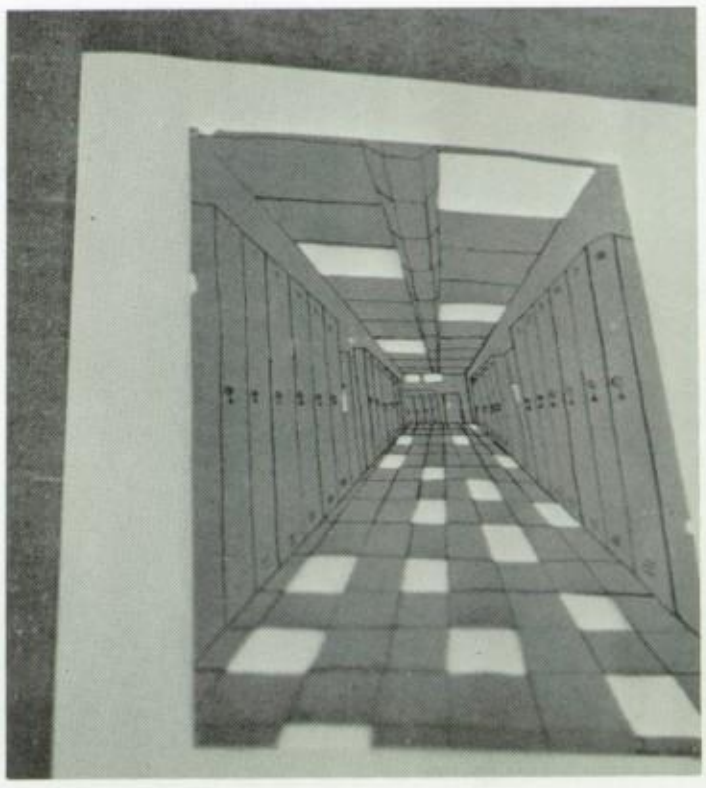
—recognizing teachers

as people







— realizing the difference between existing with people and living with friends -- the ability to reach

— feeling the temporary surges of self-confidence strengthen and multiply — penetrating the crust of pettiness that conceals life's rich core

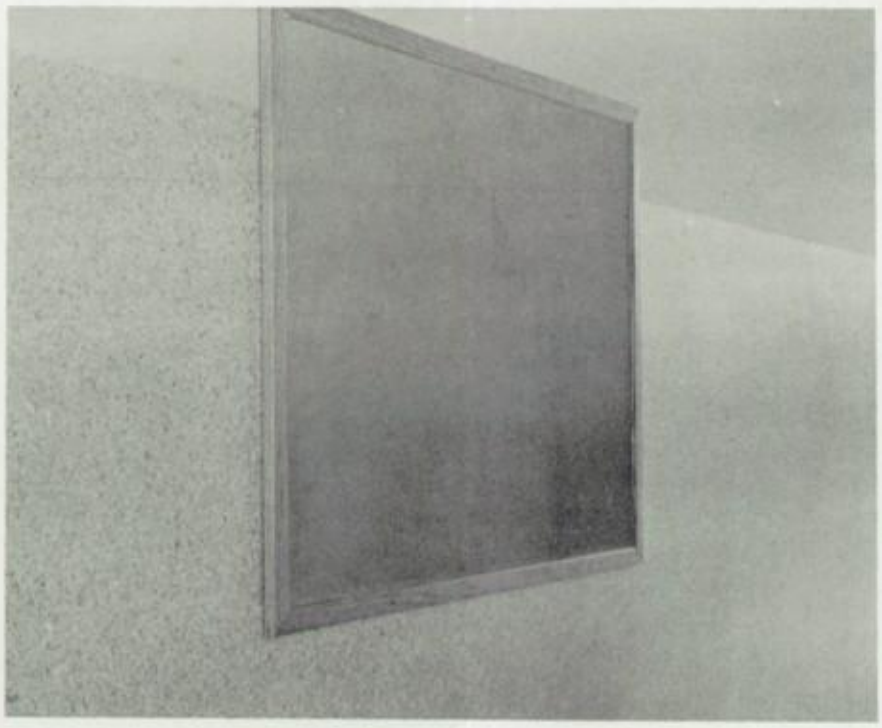
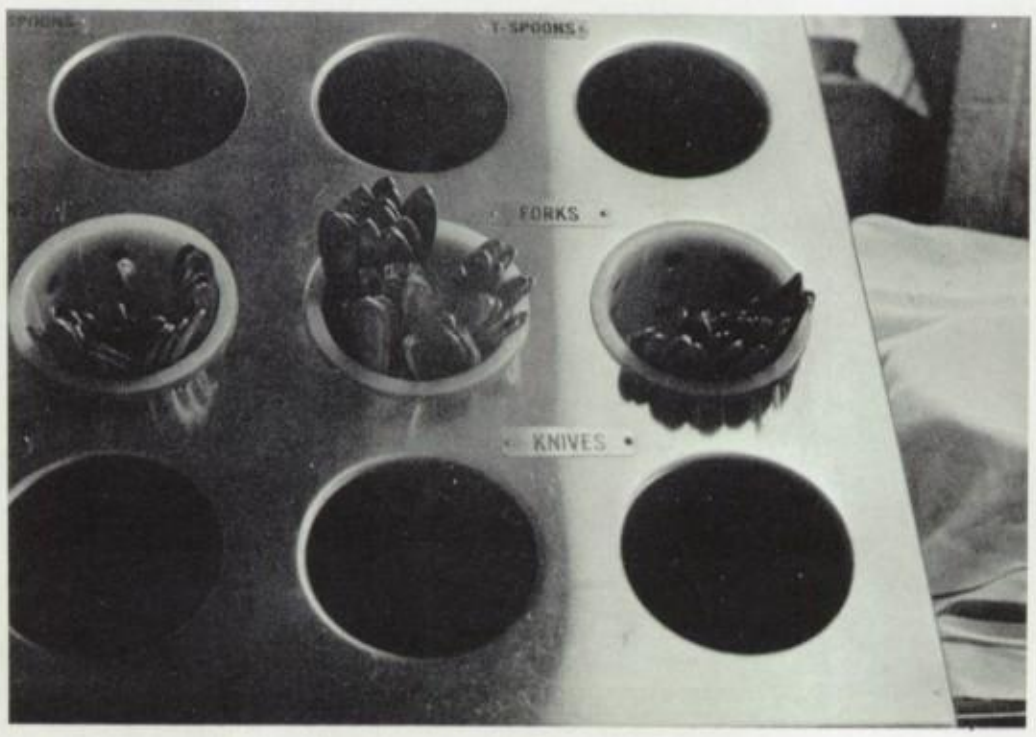
— complying with life's demand--to know it





— realizing the separateness, distinctness, and uniqueness of self, fighting for its identity

Youth pauses at the landing.
He reflects and surveys as trodden steps
recede into obscurity,
And shadows of the unknown focus into vague shapes before him.
